

The Fabric of Me

I am beautiful, I am lovely both inside and out
Compassion and creativity are at the core, without a doubt

Thoughtfulness and generosity are the essence of me
If you are patient, a true and loyal friend you'll see

At times very forgetful, seemingly careless and carefree
But that is not all of me, just part of the ADHD

Often times led on a whim and off on a tangent I go
Many a time, chasing the wind or after a pretty rainbow

Sometimes over the top, sensitive and particularly intense
Mostly misunderstood wondering if I even make sense

A square peg endlessly trying to fit into a round hole -- the "mold"
Tenaciously trying to find my place and where I belong in this world

Often observing, noticing and making random connections, in fact quite intelligent
Yet at times so slow at processing things, that to others seems apparently evident

At end of the day or later down the road I am sure to have a funny story to tell
Of how I messed up or blew it again but as long as I can have a good laugh then all is really well

So there you have it, the fabric of me
Though not in its entirety

I am unique, a special treasure, skillfully shaped by my Creator God
Fearfully and wonderfully made, gently led by His staff and rod
